

Test your Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team knowledge and complete the crossword puzzle as quick as you can.

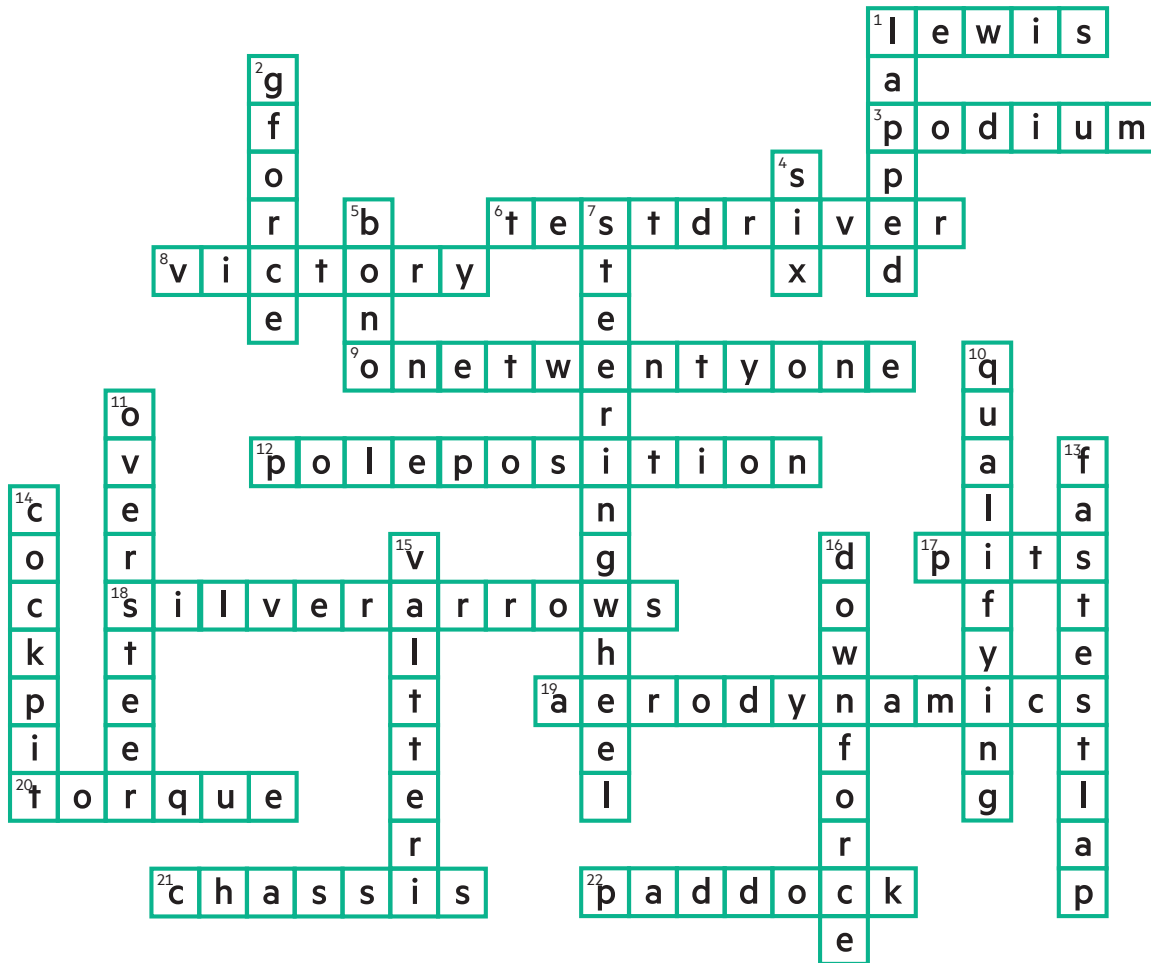

Across

1. First name of Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team driver and reigning champion
3. The area at which the top three finishing drivers receive their prizes
6. A racing driver who is employed by a Formula One team to be involved in the development and testing of a particular F1 car
8. The act of winning a race
9. Number of both Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team car numbers added together
12. The first position of the grid
17. An area of track, usually located near the start/finish line where drivers receive service to their car
18. Team nickname
19. The study of air movement over and around objects
20. The force required to turn the key components of the engine and power a Formula One car
21. The section of the car to which the engine and suspension systems are attached
22. An area behind the pits where teams store their transportation and motor homes

Down

1. When a backmarker is passed by the lead car
2. A physical force equivalent to one unit of gravity that is multiplied during rapid changes of direction or velocity
4. Number of Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team consecutive FIA Formula One World Constructors' championships
5. Nickname for the man who is known for saying, "ok, Lewis, it's hammer time" over the radio
7. Used by the driver to perform many functions, i.e. changing gears, brake pressure, and fuel adjustment
10. The knock-out session that takes place on Saturday to determine the position of drivers on the starting grid on race day
11. When the rear tires of the car are traveling faster and steering wider than the front
13. Opportunity for any driver to win an extra point in the race, regardless of final position
14. The section of the chassis in which the driver sits
15. First name of Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team driver of Finland
16. An aerodynamic force that pushes the car downward while driving forward

Answer key

Across

1. First name of Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team driver and reigning champion
3. The area at which the top three finishing drivers receive their prizes
6. A racing driver who is employed by a Formula One team to be involved in the development and testing of a particular F1 car
8. The act of winning a race
9. Number of both Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team car numbers added together
12. The first position of the grid
17. An area of track, usually located near the start/finish line where drivers receive service to their car
18. Team nickname
19. The study of air movement over and around objects
20. The force required to turn the key components of the engine and power a Formula One car
21. The section of the car to which the engine and suspension systems are attached
22. An area behind the pits where teams store their transportation and motor homes

Down

1. When a backmarker is passed by the lead car
2. A physical force equivalent to one unit of gravity that is multiplied during rapid changes of direction or velocity
4. Number of Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team consecutive FIA Formula One World Constructors' championships
5. Nickname for the man who is known for saying, "ok, Lewis, it's hammer time" over the radio
7. Used by the driver to perform many functions, i.e. changing gears, brake pressure, and fuel adjustment
10. The knock-out session that takes place on Saturday to determine the position of drivers on the starting grid on race day
11. When the rear tires of the car are traveling faster and steering wider than the front
13. Opportunity for any driver to win an extra point in the race, regardless of final position
14. The section of the chassis in which the driver sits
15. First name of Mercedes-AMG Petronas Formula One Team driver of Finland
16. An aerodynamic force that pushes the car downward while driving forward